Raleigh's HH Architecture has won a contract to design Fayetteville Technical Community College's new campus.

Financial terms of the agreement were not revealed. The new Fayetteville Tech campus will cover 60 acres in western Cumberland County.

HH Architecture currently is working on the redesign of the service merchandise building on Fayetteville Tech's main campus. That $13.2 million project calls for the conversion of the building into a structure with new classrooms, offices, labs and campus bookstore.

HH Architecture employs nine people.
